

Open FAIR Testimonials

In support of the new Open FAIR Certification Program, a number of leading training and consulting organizations have provided these testimonials.

Architecting the Enterprise:

“Architecting the Enterprise are delighted to sponsor the Open FAIR certification program as another step in the Enterprise Architecture professional development competencies. Using FAIR will enable an Enterprise Architect to attain a deeper understanding of how the enterprise works and assess where the enterprise's future digital infrastructure may be vulnerable and need strengthening. This knowledge will lead to improved and more fitting target architectures capable of delivering stronger operational performance “ said Judith Jones, CEO, Architecting the Enterprise.

CXOWARE:

“CXOWARE is extremely excited about the forthcoming launch of the Open FAIR certification program. This program clearly represents the growing need in our industry for professionals who understand risk analysis fundamentals. Furthermore, the mature processes and due diligence The Open Group applies to its standards and certification programs will help make organizations comfortable with the ground breaking concepts and methods underlying FAIR” said Jack Jones, President, CXOWARE. “This will also help professionals looking to differentiate themselves by demonstrating the ability to take a “business perspective” on risk.”

SNA Technologies:

“I am really glad that Open Group is introducing yet another framework that will be useful to all enterprises. This program fills a void on risk management that has for long existed in the industry. Open FAIR brings a very methodical and intelligent approach to risk management. At SNA we are looking forward to kickstarting the Open FAIR certification program, which promises to provide a unique platform for both budding and experienced risk professionals looking at Risk certification by offering more mature career opportunities" said Suresh Done, President and Chief Architect, SNA Technologies.

The Unit:

"The Open FAIR Certification Program is an important contribution in the field of business continuity & information security. With FAIR Information security professionals now have methods to analyze and articulate risk. This enables business stakeholders to make well-informed risk related decisions" said Rienk de kok, Co-Founder of The Unit bv. "The Unit Consultancy delivers advice and training for professionals and teams pursuing Open FAIR Certification".
